{ Intakes in Canada }

Canadian colleges and universities offer three intakes. In some universities, intakes may also be referred to as a semester. Canada generally has two main intakes for international students:

Fall Intake in Canada 2024: The Fall intake is the primary intake for most universities and colleges in Canada. The fall semester usually starts in September, which gives students ample time to prepare for the academic year.

Winter Intake in Canada 2024: The Winter intake is a smaller intake and is typically less common than the Fall intake. The Winter semester usually starts in January, which makes it a good option for students who missed the Fall intake or require more time to prepare for their academic program.

Some universities and colleges may also offer a Summer Intake for specific programs. However, Summer intake is less common than fall and winter intake
